Welcome to the Fall 2023 Catalog for Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at Florida Atlantic University

Welcome Back!

We are thrilled to provide another incredible season with some of OLLI's favorite speakers along with new innovative lecturers. OLLI at FAU continues to offer exciting programs aligning with topics that dominate the news cycle and that will deepen understanding of historical events shaping the future as well as providing enriching entertainment programs. With a public research university as a resource, OLLI at FAU is engaging with many of the University's departments like never before, bringing you an additional layer of knowledge that will provide inquisitive and adventurous patrons like yourself an experience that will not be available anywhere else.

Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at Florida Atlantic University is dedicated to enriching the intellectual and social lives of seasoned adult learners by offering stimulating educational opportunities, taught by outstanding university faculty and guest lecturers, designed to broaden students' understanding of diverse cultural, societal, scientific and global issues. With your help, we will continue to grow to meet your needs for speakers and topics that make a difference in our community.

In addition to featuring notable speakers and lecturers, OLLI at FAU offers fun and intellectually stimulating classes with opportunities to build friendships and camaraderie. It's time to bring your friends and neighbors to one of our programs so that they can be part of this wonderful experience as well. We encourage all of our OLLI members to utilize the "Bring a Friend Pass" (below, see pass for all details). Please ask one of our staff members for more information.

Finally, as a loyal member of OLLI at FAU, please consider donating to your program. We are a fully self-supporting organization and rely on the philanthropic support of you, our members. Please consider an inspired gift that will enable us to recruit outstanding and respected lecturers, improve our facilities, and continue to offer excellent programs that are of benefit to you and the entire OLLI at FAU family.

Welcome, we are glad you're here!

Your Friends at OLLI at FAU!

OLLI at FAU Information

About

The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at FAU offer our members and guests hundreds of programs spanning a broad range of topics, including foreign policy, the arts, history, science, philosophy, current events, and health & wellness, among others. Our programs take place in a variety of formats, including lectures, small group guided discussions, interactive seminars, live performances, and off-site excursions. These programs are presented by FAU faculty, professors from other universities and colleges, as well as distinguished national and international speakers.

MEMBERSHIP

All OLLI patrons are encouraged to become members. Membership benefits include:

- advanced mailing of catalogs,
- discounted member pricing and course bundling options,
- discounted Campus Recreation Center Membership at Boca Raton and Davie Campuses,
- early course registration,
- advance purchase of guest tickets for friends and family,
- borrowing privileges at the FAU library,
- discounted tickets to select FAU athletic, theater, and arts events,
- discounts at select FAU food service venues, and
- reciprocal membership with OLLI Jupiter.

ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP $60

New membership and renewals are effective through June 30, 2024.

HOW TO BECOME A MEMBER

- Purchase or renew membership at olliboca.fau.edu, OR
- Include membership on your registration form.

MEMBERSHIP CARDS AND PATRON ACCOUNTS

All OLLI patrons are issued a patron account number and current members are issued an OLLI membership card.

REGISTERING FOR PROGRAMS

- Register for programs at olliboca.fau.edu, OR
- Fill out a registration form included in this catalog (one registration form per person.)

Logistics

TICKETS AT THE DOOR

The price at the door is the same for members and non-members, so all members are encouraged to pre-register. The price of a one-time event, or one lecture of a series purchased at the door varies by program. Please see the program descriptions for prices.

REFUNDS/TRANSFERS

Once your registration has been completed, refunds are not available. Transfers and credits are available and must be requested in writing before the event takes place. Please email olliboca@fau.edu or stop by our front desk in the lobby with these requests. OLLI reserves the right to cancel any offering.

Video Catch-up

Patrons registered for a program with a “Video Catch-up”  icon who cannot attend in-person have the option to watch a recording of the presentation.

HOW DOES VIDEO CATCH-UP WORK?

If you register for a program that includes the Video Catch-up option you will:

- be able to ATTEND the program as usual at OLLI, OR
- watch the program whenever you’d like from your online account. Note that videos will be accessible 48-hours after each live program ends and are available for two weeks.

STEPS TO WATCH A VIDEO

1. Go to olliboca.fau.edu and select the red “patron login” in the upper left corner.
2. Enter your patron ID and last name and log in.
3. Select the “Video Catch-up” button. Select the video option button next to the corresponding program that you would like to watch.
4. A media window will open on your computer.
5. Select the white triangle play button in the center of the screen to start the program.
6. Wait a few seconds for the video to load (at peak viewing times and if you have a slow Wi-Fi connection the video may take longer than usual to load).

Campus Locations

BOCA RATON

Florida Atlantic University
Barry and Florence Friedberg Auditorium
777 Glades Road, CEH 31D
Boca Raton, FL 33431

DIRECTIONS

FROM I-95:

- Take Exit 45 East onto Glades Road

OLLI FAU BOOK CLUB: “Immodest” by L.S. Einat

Presenter: Cyndi Stein-Rubin

Class Code: SUMS9072

Date: Thursday, September 7

Time: 12:30–2 p.m.

Fee: $40/member; $50/non-member

Pass at the Door: $50 member/non-member

Boca Raton: Lifelong Learning Classrooms,
Continuing Education Building

The OLLI FAU Book Club presents a new twist on the traditional book club. Opening the program with an in-costume performance of the protagonist telling their story, Rubin then discusses the author’s background, the inspiration for the book, and an analysis of themes such as friendship, guilt, and resilience. The novel “Immodest” by L.S. Einat will be the focus of this very interactive program. Rubin presents deep reflective, and thought-provoking questions. Her background in communication, life coaching, and positive psychology is a backdrop for the discussions. As such, the participants examine human behavior in terms of the concepts introduced and connect them to the characters, the story, and their own lives.

OLLI at FAU on location in Delray Beach! The Delray Beach Development Authority, which is now operating Old School Square, is hosting OLLI at FAU for a special series of lectures at the Square. The lectures will focus on South Florida climate and coastal issues. Join us at the Vintage Gym located at Old School Square, 51 N. Swinton Avenue (at Atlantic Avenue) in Downtown Delray Beach. Free parking at the Old School Parking Garage located at 180 NE 1st St, Delray Beach, FL 33444. Enjoy a day in Delray! There are many fine restaurants along the Avenue for you to enjoy after the program!

Climate change is one of the world’s most prominent political issues and has been one of the most polarizing between the two major political parties in the U.S. Now, in Florida at least, this partisan divide appears to have diminished significantly. Climate change appears to no longer be a wedge issue on the campaign trail. Colin Polsky, Ph.D., the director of the Florida Center for Environmental Studies at FAU will discuss some related questions, such as, How did this happen? What are Floridians’ views on climate?

Games date back to the ancient human past as an integral part of all cultures. Games are one of the oldest forms of human social interaction. Whether played by royalty or commoners, games have always been important as cultural and social bonding events, teaching tools, and markers of social status. This lecture will explore the fascinating historical evolution of games, including games like Backgammon, Parchesi, and Chess, as well as the history of card games through the centuries.

Constitution Day: The U. S. Constitution and the Spirit of America

Sponsored by the Jack Miller forum, FAU's School of Communication and Multimedia Studies, Department of Political Science, Division of Student Affairs, and the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at FAU

Presenter: Monica Crowley

Class Code: SUM9182

Date: Monday, September 18

Time: 2–3:30 p.m.

Fee: $20/member; $20/non-member

Pass at the Door: $20 member/non-member

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium, Lifelong Learning Building

In this Constitution Day keynote speech, Monica Crowley explores the profound impact of the United States Constitution on our nation's past, present, and future. Celebrating its core principles of liberty, justice, and equality, she highlights the transformative power of a government by the people, for the people. Crowley unites the spirit of the Founding Fathers and the importance of our founding documents with the aspirations of a modern society in an increasingly uncivil media environment.

The Life, Presidency, and Post-Presidential Years of Jimmy Carter

President Putin of the Russian Federation ordered an unprovoked invasion of the neighboring country Ukraine in 2014, and quickly occupied two eastern Ukrainian provinces and the Crimean peninsula. On February 24, 2022, Russia sent hundreds of thousands of troops into Ukraine, attacked Kyiv, the capital, and occupied much of four eastern provinces, killing tens of thousands of Ukrainian civilians and destroying much of the country's infrastructure. Volodymyr Zelenskyy, President of Ukraine, is regarded as a hero for standing up to the much larger, more powerful foe. In this guided discussion, we will explore key questions that center on the major issues of the Russian-Ukrainian conflict. For example, should Ukraine focus on the liberation of Crimea as its most important military objective? What is the likelihood that Putin will order the use of nuclear weapons? Join the discussion! Space is limited.

The Science of Wellness: Science of Flourishing

Presenter: Lana Jones, Ph.D.

Class Code: SUM9271

Date: Wednesday, September 27

Time: 10:30 a.m.–12 p.m.

Well-being incorporates aspects of our physical and emotional health that, when balanced, can lead to a better quality of life. For most of us, flourishing in our lives is the ultimate goal. Flourishing moves beyond the confines of simple happiness or well-being. It encompasses a wide range of positive psychological constructs and offers a more holistic perspective on what it means to feel well and happy. In this seminar, Dr. Jones will help define flourishing from a scientific perspective, present current research findings, offer ways humans may flourish, and introduce practical applications to improve daily life and achieve the “good life.”

This event can be highly beneficial alone but will be enhanced with the other Science of Wellness programs: the Science of Happiness and the Science of Gratitude.

I See You: Do You See You?

Presenter: Cyndi Stein-Rubin

Class Code: FS10023

Date: Monday, October 2

Time: 3–4:30 p.m.

Fee: $40/member; $50/non-member

Pass at the Door: $50 member/non-member

Boca Raton: Lifelong Learning Classrooms,
Continuing Education Building

“I See You: Do You See You” is the name of this course and is also the title of my recent book. I have always been fascinated by how everybody seems to get everybody else. However, the last person they really know is their own self. This course is about having the courage, to develop our own sincerity and authenticity, how to like ourselves better, and how to become happier. Do you have your own voice? Can you speak your mind with sensitivity? This is the path we are on in this lecture. As such, let’s join together and learn how to hold up that mirror, get clear on what we see, and learn how to manage our discomfort. Join me as we turn obstacles into building blocks to become more congruent, whole, and self-aware. What do you bury deep down inside? What do you carry, and how is that working for you? Space is limited.

“Inflammaging”: How to Win the Battle Against Inflammation Associated with Aging

Presenter: Branson Collins, M.D.

Class Code: F1004F

Date: Wednesday, October 4

Time: 1–2:30 p.m.

Fee: $30/member; $35/non-member

Pass at the Door: $35 member/non-member

Fort Lauderdale: HE 908, FAU Downtown Campus

“Inflammaging” is a term used to describe chronic, low-grade inflammation that accompanies aging. This persistent state of inflammation can contribute to the development of age-related diseases, including chronic pain, cardiovascular disease, Alzheimer’s disease, and cancer. During this presentation, Dr. Branson Collins, a board-certified pain management and antiaging specialist, will describe the fundamentals behind the aging process and how reversible inflammation accelerates aging. Dr. Collins will also discuss how functional medicine testing, along with integrative therapies, can identify and treat the root causes of this process.

GUIDED DISCUSSION

Is Turkey an Ally, Adversary or an Egocentrist Friend of the United States?

Presenter: Robert G. Rabil, Ph.D.

Class Code: FG10101

Date: Tuesday, October 10

Time: 10–11:30 a.m.

Fee: $50/member; $65/non-member

Pass at the Door: $65 member/non-member

Boca Raton: Lifelong Learning Classrooms,

Since the eruption of the Ukraine crisis, President Erdogan of Turkey has pursued a policy inconsistent with U.S. and NATO's policy toward Russia. True, he has supplied Ukraine with drones; yet he has extended a lifeline to Russia, violating the Western alliance's sanctions regime against Moscow. Given the importance of Turkey's geopolitical position, the Biden administration has thus far been careful not to antagonize Erdogan. But as the grave war drags on, questions about Ankara's policy and its relationship with Washington have come under scrutiny. In this guided discussion, Dr. Rabil and attendees will explore the scope and breadth of the U.S.-Turkey relationship and its corollaries for U.S. foreign policy. Space is limited.

Storytelling in the West Bank: A Performance/Lecture for Peace

Presenter: Caren S. Neile, Ph.D.

Class Code: FS10113

Date: Wednesday, October 11

Time: 3–4:30 p.m.

Fee: $40/member; $50/non-member

Pass at the Door: $50 member/non-member

Boca Raton: Lifelong Learning Classrooms,
Continuing Education Building

Last winter, Dr. Caren Schnur Neile created a storytelling program under the auspices of the non-governmental peace organization Roots/Shoreshim/Judur. Dr. Neile worked with Israelis and Palestinians, primarily women, in the occupied West Bank. They met in the only place where the two groups were legally allowed to stand in the same space. Dr. Neile collected and helped the participants share their personal stories and cultural folktales. She aimed to enable the two groups to listen and see each other as human beings, with both divergent and shared stories of value. The program resulted in a performance by Dr. Neile based on these stories. This unusual performance/lecture contextualizes the story she created from that experience. Come hear the West Bank narrative in the words of the people who live it every day. Space is limited.

consideration, perspective, and compassion to whatever is actually going on when life is not going according to our carefully laid out plans. By doing so, we can reframe whatever is taking place in the most positive and inspiring ways possible. Based on positive psychology, emotional intelligence, brain science, and other well-researched perspectives and practices, this interactive conversation is an opportunity to consider alternative ways of responding to LIFE as it is, inviting each day to delight and inspire us. Coach Minx is the author of a recently released book by the same name, published by SPS Studios Inc., a division of Blue Mountain Arts. Handouts and visuals will be used. Space is limited.

What do we mean when we speak of the soul? Do we have a soul, and if so, where did it come from? Does the universe have a soul? In exploring this question, we will look at the dualism of classical Western religions, the materialism of modern science, and the idealism of Eastern religions and mysticism. In our exploration, we will study many thought experiments, from philosophical zombies to the ghost in the machine and from the Chinese room to Schrodinger's cat. Join us as we explore one of the most perplexing questions of religion, philosophy, and science. Space is limited.

The Value of Anger: A Philosophical Guide to Anger Management

Presenter: Steven Gubka, Ph.D.

Class Code: FS10161

One popular view of anger says that it is counterproductive: we are more likely to communicate persuasively if we avoid feeling or expressing anger, and less likely to act destructively in pursuit of revenge against the target of our anger. If we take this view seriously, we may moderate or extinguish our anger, perhaps in the ways suggested by the stoic philosopher Seneca. But is it fair for others to ask us to give up our anger? And what do we risk losing when we do? In this presentation, we will explore recent arguments from philosophers that people who are wronged have a right to their anger, and that anger is useful in pursuing justice for oneself (and not necessarily revenge). Gubka will present his research arguing that our understanding of ourselves, including what is valuable to us, depends on our anger. One surprising and provocative upshot of this research is that we have a reason to promote anger in ourselves and others rather than to reduce or moderate that anger. Handouts and a Powerpoint will enhance this presentation. Space is limited.

Ukraine Crisis: The Fateful Global War?

Presenter: Robert G. Rabil, Ph.D.

Class Code: FG10171

Date: Tuesday, October 17

Time: 10–11:30 a.m.

Fee: $50/member; $65/non-member

Pass at the Door: $65 member/non-member

Boca Raton: Lifelong Learning Classrooms,

Dr. Rabil has been outspoken about seeking a peaceful resolution to the Ukraine crisis. The antagonists (and their supporters) are setting a cycle of escalations in motion, making a bigger catastrophic war an irreversible outcome. In this guided discussion, Dr. Rabil and attendees will probe why the international community has been lackadaisical about seeking peace negotiations and examine what should be done to prevent further tragedies. Space is limited.

The Kennedy Brothers: Part I, Robert Kennedy

Presenter: Ronald Feinman, Ph.D.

Class Code: F10182

Date: Wednesday, October 18

Time: 12:30–2 p.m.

Fee: $30/member; $35/non-member |  Video Catch-up
Pass at the Door: $35 member/non-member

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium, Lifelong Learning Building

The two brothers of President John F. Kennedy made major contributions to American politics and history. In this lecture, the life and significance of Robert Kennedy will be analyzed in detail. Robert Kennedy would serve as Attorney General of the United States under his brother; win a Senate seat in New York; and campaign for President in 1968, until his tragic assassination in June 1968. His impact on American history remains profound a half-century after his death. Questions and comments are welcome at the end of the lecture.

Fee: $30/member; $35/non-member |  Video Catch-up
Pass at the Door: $35 member/non-member

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium, Lifelong Learning Building

With some whimsy and seriousness, Professor Wolf (Emeritus Prof. of English, SUNY-Buffalo, Life Member, Wolfson College, Cambridge University) will describe the history and “journey” of the Bagel as a fact and symbol of Jewish history (sacred and secular). Dr. Wolf will link the Bagel briefly with other circles from Euclid through Copernicus to the waving of hands on the Sabbath, a symbol of the “soul’s return to its source.” To dramatize the meaning of his talk, he may read a few passages from his mini-story, “An Arc in Search of a Circle” (Trajectory, Spring, 2022).

They are two of the world’s largest nations, population total 1.6 billion. They have four million armed troops and enormous military equipment. One dominates Central Asia and parts of Eastern Europe, the other East Asia, and the South China Sea. The Russians supply the Chinese with precious minerals and metals, like copper and aluminum. The Chinese supply the Russians with critical manufactured items, like computer chips and machine parts. Presidents Xi Jinping and Vladimir Putin have pledged continuing friendship and an unbreakable alliance. In that spirit, Russian and Chinese naval forces have carried out joint-exercises in the East China Sea. Both Russia and China are led by dictators who face no term limits, and few, if any, restraints on their power. The lecturer will outline which paths Russia and China are likely to take.

The two brothers of President John F. Kennedy made major contributions to American politics and history. In this lecture, the life and significance of Ted Kennedy will be analyzed in detail. Edward (Ted) Kennedy would serve in the U.S. Senate for nearly half a century, having the fifth longest-serving tenure in American history. He would be regarded as “The Lion of the Senate,” who promoted more legislation and suggested more laws than any Senator in American history. He would be able to work “across the aisle” with opposition party members, who greatly respected his commitment to public service. He would also attempt a campaign for President in 1980, which floundered, but his commitment to the institution of the Senate was profound. Jewish Tradition teaches that there are 70 ways to study Torah. Art is an important one of them. Images add rich interpretations to texts and connect us to important historical places, events, personalities, Israel, and holiday celebrations. Jews have simultaneously assimilated and remained separate from the majority cultures in which they lived. Their artwork reflects this phenomenon. In this interactive power-point presentation, works in all media by world-class artists will be shown. A series of open-ended questions will be raised. While there are no right or wrong answers, serious discussion bubbles to the surface. It is also a chance to enjoy some great art and to expand your own definition of Jewish art.

The microchip is the technology behind anything smart. And just about everything is smart and getting smarter every day. But, how we make the chips, where we make the chips, and how we use the chips will define the future our grandchildren live. In Part I of this 2-part series, Kowel will review the challenges we face as individuals, and as a society, in maximizing the benefits and containing the hazards of chips connecting over the Internet. We will explore how social media and podcasts promote pernicious, divisive, and polarizing posts because they attract viewers and advertisers. We will review proposals to give “true” a louder voice than “fake” while offering the broadest freedom of access and opinion. We will also consider what actions we can each take to guard what is left of privacy and avoid being victims of scams while we search for information, FaceTime with friends, do our banking, and entertain ourselves. Putting off procrastination is not a good strategy for dealing with essential, exponential, existential technology.

This year we commemorate 85 years since the catastrophic events of November 9 and 10, 1938, known as Kristallnacht, “The Night of Broken Glass.” This was a two-day pogrom that targeted Jews and Jewish institutions in Germany and its occupied lands. Holocaust scholars like Dr. Irving Berkowitz view Kristallnacht as a fateful and forceful “Beginning of the Road to the Final Solution.” The assassination of a low-level German diplomat in Paris by a 17-year-old Jewish youth would become the pretext by the Nazis for orchestrating a “spontaneous uprising” (a reprisal) that would damage or destroy over 1,000 synagogues, 7,500 businesses and murder 91 Jewish people. Join us as Dr. Berkowitz analyzes and Join the PinkSlip Duo as they commemorate Veterans Day and honor our OLLI vets! Veterans Day originated as “Armistice Day” on the first anniversary of the end of World War I, Nov. 11, 1919. In 1926, Congress passed a resolution for an annual observance of it, and in 1938, Veterans Day became a national holiday. This special program begins with fascinating facts about the day’s origin and continues with a tribute to today’s veterans with the medley of armed services anthems, including that of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, and Coast Guard, while veterans of those branches stand to be acknowledged. PinkSlip will perform popular songs from World War II (Andrews Sisters, Doris Day), the Korean War (Patti Page, the Weavers), and the Vietnam era (The Animals, Buffalo Springfield, Marvin Gaye, Country Joe and the Fish, and more). Like all of PinkSlip’s musical lectures, this program will have stimulating slides, beautiful harmony arrangements, and song lyrics for a sing-along.

“The evening is always a pleasure and their preparation for and repartee during the program are so refreshing.

Five stars!”

A Tale of Two Banking Crises

Presenter: Rebel Cole, Ph.D.

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium, Lifelong Learning Building

The 21st century has seen more than its share of bank crises. In this presentation, Rebel Cole, Ph.D. will explore the origins and repercussions of two of the most consequential banking crises affecting the U.S.: the global financial crisis that began with the failure of Lehman Brothers investment bank in 2008 and persisted for several years; and the more recent banking crisis that started with the sudden failure of Silicon Valley Bank on March 10, 2023, and is ongoing. First, Cole will examine how a bubble in the housing market spread to the financial markets as housing prices collapsed during 2007–2008, primarily the role of structured financial products, including collateralized debt obligations (CDOs) and credit default swaps (CDSs). He will then explain how monetary and fiscal policies during and after the COVID-19 pandemic led to the failure of Silicon Valley Bank and Signature Bank of New York and threatened the viability of hundreds of other banks, including the role of “interest-rate risk.” A Q&A session will follow this valuable program.

Although the tale of the painting known as “The Woman in Gold” was made into a Hollywood motion picture starring Ryan Reynolds and Helen Mirren in 2015, the fascinating truth is even better than the movie! Attorney Laura Reich presents a discussion of the history of the painting “Portrait of Adele Bloch-Bauer I,” by Gustave Klimt (better known as “The Woman in Gold”), including the groundbreaking 2004 U.S. Supreme Court case, brought by her law partner Donald S. Burris. In the legal opinion, the Court ruled in favor of Ms. Altmann, triggering shockwaves throughout the legal world. Ms. Reich will discuss the Altmann case and current art restitution efforts on behalf of the heirs and families of victims of Nazi persecution.

by humankind. Deep fakes produce events that could never happen but look and sound real. Neural networks connecting over the Internet will have such blinding speed and complexity that they might even become conscious and thus autonomous. Dare we create such powerful artificial general intelligence when we understand so little of human intelligence? Can we put in place protections against the Singularity, a network that could arise from anywhere, anytime, deciding that it knows best how to save the planet and protect its future? Or could the Singularity be our progeny, preserving the best of human culture and eliminating the worst? Putting off procrastination is not a good strategy for dealing with essential, exponential, existential technology.

In this one-time lecture, Walid Phares, Ph.D., will address a global assessment of U.S. strategic challenges across the Greater Middle East towards the end of a year that witnessed a massive shift in geopolitics in the region. The lecture will examine the moves by Washington and the options the Biden Administration still has to face, the rising alliance between the Islamic Republic, China, and Russia, the instability increasing from the East Mediterranean to Afghanistan, and American politics diverting attention from U.S. foreign policy during the 2024 election year. Meanwhile, a dramatic development added uncertainty to U.S. policy in the region when Saudi Arabia and Iran signed a normalization agreement in Beijing, followed by Arab countries such as the UAE, Bahrain, and Syria. Expect a top-of-the-line assessment by Professor Phares, who appears in the national and international media and advises policymakers and senior experts.

Michelangelo unveiled the Last Judgment in 1541. Painted on the altar wall of the Sistine Chapel, the towering fresco is an awesome achievement containing hundreds of figures confronting the Day of Judgment. It is also one of Michelangelo's last major public works. Despite being created by one of the most famous artists in the world at the time, the reviews of the fresco were decidedly mixed. Some commentators felt that it was the most sublime work of art ever created, others thought it was fit only for a brothel. Even modern-day scholars point to

In the 1980s, Silvin was one of the most frequent flyers on the Concorde, making him the perfect person to present the history of this marvel of technology from a personal point of view. Concorde's life, including its development, spanned half a century. Its leap forward in technological advancement has been unrivaled, and the French and British joint development led to a new era of cooperation between the two countries. The ambitious initial plan was to build 350 aircraft. But due to many obstacles, such as sound pollution, safety issues, and high development and operation costs, a mere 20 planes were ever built, with only 14 going into service. The audience will get a feel for what travel on Concorde was like, meet some of its famous passengers, and learn what precipitated its demise. In his inimitable story-telling fashion, using hundreds of pictures and videos, Silvin will take the audience on a trip through time and space.

Zora Neale Hurston's 1937 novel, "Their Eyes Were Watching God," is an American classic. This powerful and brilliant novel tells the story of Janie Mae Crawford and her search for self-actualization as a black woman in the early twentieth century. Hurston was raised in Eatonville, Florida, and sets her novel in rural Florida, a place she described in a letter where "the air is sweet, yes, literally sweet." This guided discussion will thus pay close attention to the role of place in the novel and offer an overview of the novel's thematic concerns and ideas, as well as present more in-depth analyses of various textual moments. Participants are encouraged to read the novel before the discussion. Space is limited.

Of the eleven states that seceded from the Union and ultimately formed the Confederate States of America by early 1861, Florida was the smallest in terms of population and thus predictably contributed the lowest number of soldiers and sailors to the Confederate armed forces. However, with its natural resources and extensive coastline, Florida was strategically and economically very important. This presentation will highlight how the Union and Confederate armed forces made Florida a battleground from 1861 to 1865. It will explore the resources at stake, and the political factions and actors who shaped an interesting history in those terrible wartime years and who paved the way for Florida's postwar development in the Reconstruction period. The battles in Florida were nowhere near as large as those commonly described in history books, like Gettysburg and Antietam, but men still made the ultimate sacrifice on both sides and contributed to the war's final outcome in their own way.

"Excellent and informative lecture! The instructor's passion for the subject matter was evident. I thoroughly enjoyed this presentation!"

Humiliation and Hegemony: How History Informs Chinese Attitudes and Behavior

Presenter: Andrew R. Wilson, Ph.D.

Date: Friday, December 1

Time: 12:30–2 p.m.

Fee: $40/member; $45/non-member |  Video Catch-up

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium,
Lifelong Learning Building

This talk explores the two narratives that define the historical consciousness of the Chinese people and of the Chinese government today. The first is the “century of humiliation” narrative, wherein China was brought low by foreign invasion and exploitation over the hundred years from the 1840s to the 1940s. The second is the perception that before that “century of humiliation,” Imperial China was a natural and benevolent hegemon. This implies that for centuries there was something of a Chinese World Order and that the modern primacy of the West is an historical aberration. “Never Forget National Humiliation” and “Rejuvenate the Great Chinese Nation” are among Xi Jinping’s favorite mantras and their pursuit explains a lot about how the PRC behaves, and about popular attitudes in China toward the outside world. Simply put, one cannot understand contemporary China without understanding how China’s modern history — from 18th Century Hegemon to 20th Century Failed State — shapes how the Chinese think of their place in the world today and their expectations for China’s future rise.

This program will give an in-depth look at the development of the presidential race. Dr. Wagner will explore the movements and transitions in the run for president by reviewing the changes in political media, parties, interest groups, and public opinion. The presentation will explore modern politics from the lens of political history and Dr. Wagner's research on the growing shifts in the political media and political processes. The lecture will also take attendees inside the political noise and show what matters and why. Wagner will present survey results, media clips, and analysis of the latest happenings. Combining visuals, data, and occasional humor, he will show how events, technology, media, and politicians are shaping who our next president will be.

As U.S.-China geopolitical tension and rivalry heightened in recent years and peaked following the Russian invasion of Ukraine, Washington has set its sights on the continent of Africa. Geostrategically located and rich in natural resources, Africa has become the focus of global powers' competition. The Biden administration released a U.S.-Africa Strategy in August 2022 and convened a U.S.-Africa Leaders Summit in December 2022. Meant to advance U.S.-African interests, the summit was also a means for Washington to gauge Chinese influence in the continent. In fact, the U.S. is far behind China's cooperation with and investment in African countries. African nations are aware of both the advantages and pitfalls of global competition over their continent, making investment in their continent a matter of respect and mutual benefit. In this special lecture, Dr. Rabil will survey the history of global competition over Africa, probe Beijing's economic and political influence in the continent, and explore ways by which Washington can compete with Beijing and make sound, lasting investments and friendships with African nations.

For generations, the "Myth of the Lost Cause" cast a long shadow over the Civil War, America's watershed event. The persistence of that narrative, created by ex-Confederates to justify the just-concluded conflict, remains part of contemporary America. Even today, when controversies over the appropriateness of displaying the Confederate flag erupt, many supporters claim that it symbolizes their regional heritage and states' rights, not the era of slavery. Historian Stephen D. Engle rejects that notion and challenges the enduring Southern reverence for the Confederacy. Drawing on decades of research, Engle focuses on issues central to the myth over generations by targeting its origins during Reconstruction, its cultural endurance through the 1920s and the Great Depression, its challenges to the Civil Rights Era, and even its symbolism in rallying patriotism today.

"Dr. Engle is the best. I would take any program that is offered because the content is so enriching, the presentation excellent and his knowledge of the subjects is extraordinary."

Death of a Princess: Unanswered Questions About the Tragic Death of Diana

This past August, we commemorated the 25th anniversary of the tragic death of Princess Diana in a car crash in Paris. Significant questions still remain unanswered about the circumstances of her death. Was it, as the bulk of the media suggested, a simple case of drunk driving? Were there extenuating circumstances indicating premeditated manslaughter? Was there involvement of intelligence services in the tragedy? Steinberg was directly involved in the investigation following the Paris crash, with access to security camera footage, eyewitness debriefings, and court records. While media focused on speculation about Princess Diana's relationship with Dodi Fayed, the son of Mohammed al Fayed, owner of the famous Harrods Department Store in London, the backdrop to the 'Death of a Princess' was anything but the makings of soap opera or reality TV. She was a prominent figure on the world and her failed marriage to Prince Charles badly damaged the image of the Royal Family. All of these aspects will be explored.

Do you have an opinion about the Duke and Duchess of Sussex? Are they victims of a coldhearted Palace seeking to punish them for walking away from Royal duties? Or are they self-centered whiners hoping to cash in on America's fascination with the British Royal family? Join Dr. Margery Marcus for an analysis of the most up-to-date theories about the Royal couple and their blood feud with the Palace. Was William really behind Harry donning a Nazi uniform to a costume party? Did the Palace feed stories to the tabloids to deflect from William's bad behavior? Rather than clearing the air, Harry's own memoir, "Spare," casts him in a negative light, according to several British Royal watchers. Dr. Marcus will present a brief update on the latest on Harry and Meghan, then lead a conversation with class members giving everyone an opportunity to weigh in and share perspectives. This lecture includes a colorful PowerPoint with video clips. Space is limited.

Join Dr. Ralph Nurnberger as he examines the Scottish Duo in a special two-part series. Mary Queen of Scots and Bonnie Prince Charlie are among the most iconic heroes in Scotland, remaining popular and revered figures in Scottish history even though neither ever achieved their objective, namely, to be the monarch in Britain. Mary Stuart was six days old when her father, James V of Scotland, died. She inherited the throne and officially became Queen of Scotland at age 14. At seventeen, she also became Queen consort of France when her first husband, Francis, became King. A year after his death, she returned to Scotland, hoping to also become Queen of England. The next twenty years of her life were marked by political intrigues, international conspiracies, espionage, murders, personal dramas, and a lengthy rivalry with her cousin Queen Elizabeth of England. Nurnberger will explore her exciting story and share the recently discovered treasure trove of long-lost letters by Mary Queen of Scots found by a trio of amateur cryptologists who painstakingly worked to crack their code!

New Discoveries from the James Webb Space Telescope: Two Years After Launch

Picking up where he left off, Dr. Sarajedini brings OLLI patrons the latest exciting travels of the James Webb Space Telescope! The Space Telescope was launched on Christmas day, 2021, with the primary science goals of uncovering the early universe, studying galaxies over time, understanding the lifecycles of stars, and discovering other worlds. This presentation will describe the discoveries from the Webb Telescope through beautifully vivid photos during its first two years and give a preview of upcoming observations and breakthroughs that the telescope will likely make.

"I felt the speaker's passion for his subject was quite evident and helped to enhance the quality of his presentation."

How did it start? From Count Basie's boogie woogie, the swagger of Big Mama Thornton and Big Joe Turner, the backbeat of country dance music, and the fervor of old-time gospel, rock and roll exploded onto the world stage in the 1950s. Teens everywhere learned to "Rock Around the Clock," "Come Go With Me," "Stay," and "Don't Be Cruel," as Doo-wop filled the air and the beat of Little Richard, Jerry Lee Lewis, and Chuck Berry filled the dance floor. From Elvis, Buddy Holly, Connie Francis, and Bobby Darin to folk rock and the British Invasion to the present, popular music has channeled rock and roll ever since. Join Rod & the Humdingers for a low-decibel journey through the favorite songs and colorful characters of the Search for the Birth of Rock & Roll.

Cognitive health refers to the ability of the brain to function well, including thinking, learning, memory, and decision-making. Dr. Collins will review the seven latest integrative approaches to maintain healthy brain aging and improve cognitive health: regular exercise, enough sleep, a healthy diet, engaging in mentally stimulating activities, reducing stress, socializing, and learning new things are all important. Incorporating these habits into your lifestyle can help improve your cognitive health and maintain optimal brain function. With these topics in mind, Dr. Collins will delve into the cutting-edge lab testing and regenerative therapies used to improve cognitive health in integrative and regenerative medicine.

To be effective and survive, societies that define themselves as democracies must inevitably make critical assumptions about both the strength and character of their people and the constitutional structure of their political institutions. In some respects, then, democracy is a fragile system of government. But, as many commentators have observed, an ever-increasing lack of civility and decency in contemporary political debate threatens to undermine the foundation and fabric of democracy in the United States. With the foundations of democracy being threatened by this diminished civility, it is particularly timely to examine and remind ourselves about the foundations of democratic governance. Using clips from films such as "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," and "Seven Days in May," the lecture will examine the sources of threats to American democracy and how our constitutional and political system can respond to such challenges.

Yiddish is a culture of words, ideas, learning, expressions, and communication. It is an identity with a comic and tragic past that continues to inspire diverse feelings. It is a language rooted in Eastern European-Jewish history and became the “linguistic homeland” of a people without a home. It was a language without borders that connected Jews, giving them a sense of continuity. Yiddish emerged and developed out of the joys and the tragedies of a people. This lecture will explore a little history, some insights, treasures and wisdom and a bissle humor. Riva Ginsburg continues to offer unique and entertaining programs that capture the essence of Mameloshen....mother tongue. One of her passions is to keep Yiddish alive in our hearts and minds.

Over luminous days and crystalline nights, ancient humans watched the sun, moon, stars, and planets wheel around the sky. The heavenly bodies were gods. Their gift was time, telling mortals when to sleep, to wake, to sow, to reap. Thus began a quest to predict the motions of celestial objects, one which would come to throw man out from his vaulted place at the center of the universe. It was an epic journey, covering some 150 generations and nearly 5000 years, punctuated by brilliant leaps of insight, at times against great resistance by religious authorities. This scientific achievement stands as testimony to the power and imagination of the human mind. This presentation is about that quest and how it has come to shape our modern worldview.

On December 24th, 2003, George Piro was selected as the team leader and interrogator for the FBI team responsible for the interrogation of Saddam Hussein, one of the most brutal dictators of our modern times. This marked the first time in FBI history that the FBI interrogated a significant head of state in his country. During this time, Piro spent seven months leading the interrogation of Saddam Hussein and other key figures within the former Iraqi regime. Piro will provide insight into the seven months spent with Saddam Hussein, including the objectives and priorities of the interrogation, and discuss the FBI Behavioral assessment, including Saddam’s vulnerabilities and environmental challenges. He then will walk through the FBI interrogation strategy and detail the successful results of the operation. Finally, Piro will share the values that helped him succeed in the interrogation of Saddam Hussein and throughout his law enforcement career.

Sid Caesar wanted to be a musician and began his career playing saxophone at resorts in the Catskills. It was only during his service in the Coast Guard (where he was stationed in Palm Beach!) that his comedic talents were discovered in a revue called “Tar and Spars.” With the guidance of producer Max Liebman, Caesar turned his gifts for imitating languages, improvisation, and facial contortions into stardom with “Your Show of Shows.” Co-starring Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner, and Howard Morris, the show was a ratings juggernaut watched by almost 60 million Americans every week. After several years, NBC revamped the show into “Caesar’s Hour,” which also had a good run. Tastes began to change, and Sid Caesar fell into obscurity. Although he never really made a “comeback” Caesar was cast in several supporting and cameo roles in several films. This lecture will focus on Caesar’s unique comedic gifts as seen in rare archival video footage.

The past and present are interwoven into a beautiful and thought-provoking play centered on the experience of Holocaust survivor Georgia Gabor and a young woman facing discrimination in the United States in 2020. The Messenger by Jenny Connell Davis is a reflection on either speaking up and speaking out or remaining silent for the sake of self-preservation. In this interactive discussion about the Palm Beach Dramaworks world premiere production, PBD’s Gary Cadwallader examines the characters, their intertwined relationship, and the major themes of discrimination and resistance. Multimedia clips supporting the discussion are utilized to enhance and support the story. Participants receive a copy of the play beforehand, and a comprehensive, informative PBD Dramaguide written specifically for this discussion. After an in-depth conversation, participants leave with a deeper understanding of the play, and how past atrocities impact the present. Space is limited.

White Nationalism and Antisemitism

The recent global uptick in antisemitism has bedeviled and threatened Jews throughout the world, not the least in Florida. To be sure, many factors lay behind the rise of antisemitism; nevertheless, white nationalism today poses the most significant threat to Jews worldwide. This is because white nationalism has not only adopted the myths, racism, radical religious bigotry, and irrational attitudes towards the Jews but has also transformed the fear of minorities supplanting white people and Western civilization into an integral part of a transnational movement scapegoating the Jew as the force majeure conspirator. Significantly, White nationalists have exploited the Ukraine crisis to fan their antisemitism and deepen their transnational contacts. In this special lecture, Dr. Rabil will draw the ideological and practical connection of White nationalism to antisemitism and how they use antisemitism to spread their extremist ideology and enhance their power as a global movement. Dr. Rabil will also highlight Florida as a hotbed of White nationalist movements.

Join Dr. Ralph Nurnberger as he examines the Scottish Duo in a special two-part series. Mary Queen of Scots and Bonnie Prince Charlie are among the most iconic heroes in Scotland, remaining popular and revered figures in Scottish history even though neither ever achieved their objective, namely, to be the monarch in Britain. Charles Edward Stuart (“Bonnie Prince Charlie”) was Mary Queen of Scots’ great-great-grandson. He spent his life claiming the thrones of England, Scotland, and Ireland, calling himself “Charles III.” His invasion of England led to his defeat at Culloden, the last pitched battle ever on British soil. After his overwhelming defeat, Bonnie Prince Charlie hid in the moors of the Highlands of Scotland, always barely ahead of the English forces. Many Highlanders aided him during his escape, and none of them betrayed him for the £30,000 reward. Although his forces were defeated by the British, he remains a “romanticized” hero in Scotland.

Unlike our favorite comedians who can get up in front of an audience and tell jokes for more than an hour, numerous serious actors over the decades have also made us laugh as they delivered memorable, comical performances; some in the movies, some on television, some on stage. As Mel Brooks reminds us, “Funny is in the writing, not in the performing. The actors must be serious. Only the situation must be absurd.” Cary Grant observed, “Comedy holds the greatest risk for the actor – and laughter is the reward.” In this fun, fast-paced, and highly interactive program, Lenny spotlights several great comic actors such as Mary Tyler Moore, Dick Van Dyke, Walter Matthau, Jack Lemmon, Martha Raye, Mickey Rooney, Bea Arthur, Gene Wilder, Danny Kaye, and Ethel Merman.

Playing Against Type: Stars You'd Never Believe Headlined Westerns

Presenter: Kurt F. Stone, D.D.

Six-week Series Code: SUM463

Dates: Thursdays — August 24, 31; September 7, 14, 21, 28

Time: 3–5 p.m.

Fee: $90/member; $120/non-member |  Video Catch-up

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium, Lifelong Learning Building

Back in the 1930s, no one would think of Hollywood actors like Jimmy Stewart, Randolph Scott, and Henry Fonda starring in a Western. Fast forward a decade or more, and they all became major Western stars, so much so that today, few remember their non-Western roles or films. On the other hand, other stars, like Ray Milland, Franchot Tone, Dick Powell, Humphrey Bogart, and even Joan Crawford, who played against type, got up on a horse, strapped on a six-shooter, and shot up the screen. In this series, Dr. Stone will take us behind the screen as we will watch and discuss a bunch of Westerns headlined by the unlikeliest of Hollywood icons and doing a pretty good job of it. Let's face it . . . once a star, always a star . . . pardner!

Week 1. Humphrey Bogart: "Virginia City" (1940)

Bogie stars alongside Errol Flynn and Randolph Scott in a tale involving an escape from a notorious Confederate prison, a conspiracy and millions of dollars.

Week 2. Cagney and Bogart: "The Oklahoma Kid" (1939)

Cagney and Bogart battle one another for supremacy during the Oklahoma Land Rush.

Week 3. Joan Crawford: "Johnny Guitar" (1954)

Crawford stars as a steel-willed saloon keeper wrongly accused of murder and bank robbery by a lynch mob.

Week 4. Dick Powell: "Station West" (1954)

Powell plays Haven, a Civil War-era army intelligence agent who goes undercover to find killers in a mining and logging town.

Week 5. Ray Milland: "A Man Alone" (1955)

Milland (who also served as director) stars as a gunfighter who is suspected of a stagecoach massacre.

Week 6. Spencer Tracy: "Broken Lance" (1954)

Tracy stars as a cattle baron who raids a copper smelter that is polluting his water, and then divides his property among his sons (Robert Wagner and Richard Widmark).

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium, Lifelong Learning Building

The “noir” world is a domain simmering with suspense, where betrayal, revenge, and passion reveal hearts of darkness and where good and evil are not always what they seem. This session’s four films take us on a classic and contemporary exploration into the place where darker impulses reign.

Week 1. “The Secret in Their Eyes” - Argentina, 2009

In this Academy Award Winning Film, a retired legal counselor writes a novel hoping to find closure for one of his past unresolved homicide cases and for his unreciprocated love with his superior — both of which still haunt him decades later.

Week 2. “Le Samourai” - France, 1967

A masterwork of modern noir, and a film that would influence Hollywood films to come, is the story of Jef Costello, a hit man, his rituals, and his love who goes from being the hunter to the hunted.

Week 3. “Man on the Train” - France, 2003

Milan is a beleaguered old thief who rolls into a small French town with the aim of robbing its bank and retiring in peace. However, a chance meeting with a local professor who has always dreamed of adventure delays his scheme and leads to an unexpected relationship.

Week 4. “Decision to Leave” - South Korea, 2022

In this modern take influenced by the Master, Alfred Hitchcock, a man plummets to his death from a mountain peak in South Korea. Did he jump, or was he pushed? When detective Hae-joon arrives on the scene, and digs deeper into the investigation, he finds himself trapped in a web of deception and desire.

Films were a major cultural phenomenon during World War II, and each belligerent nation encouraged the production of propaganda films during the war. As a result, hundreds of propaganda films were produced, and we will view four: “Mrs. Miniver,” “Mission to Moscow,” “Kohlberg,” and “Casablanca.” Each film will be shown in its entirety, and there will be a discussion of the films’ history and significance.

Week 1. “Mrs. Miniver”, (1942): A moving drama about a middle-class English family learning to cope with war, told in a series of dramatic vignettes.

Week 2. “Casablanca,” (1942): A cynical expatriate American cafe owner struggles to decide whether or not to help his former lover and her fugitive husband escape the Nazis in French Morocco.

Week 3. “Mission to Moscow,” (1943): Ambassador Joseph Davies is sent by FDR to Russia to learn about the Soviet system and returns to America as an advocate of Stalinism.

Week 4. “Kohlberg” (1945): One of the last films of the Third Reich, it was intended as a Nazi propaganda piece to bolster the will of the German population to resist the Allies.

By 1933, there were more than one-hundred antisemitic groups in the United States. They paraded in the streets, ran Nazi summer camps for kids, and held mass meetings in Madison Square Garden. Dr. Martin Green's lecture, Guile and Guns, tells of the Jewish gangsters who attacked America's growing fascism with stink bombs, baseball bats, and free flying lessons. This session we're off to Asia. Specifically, China, Japan, India and Korea. Each exploring stories of family, conflict, coming of age and more. And each reflecting cultural differences that resonate universally.

Week 1. "Shower" - China, 1999: A young wealthy businessman's icy attitude toward his working-class background is about to thaw as he is forced to reconnect with his elderly father and mentally challenged younger brother, who together run a public bathhouse.

Week 2. "Masaan" - India, 2015: Along India's Ganges River, four lives intersect, each yearning to escape the moral constructs of a small town.

Week 3. "Adrift in Tokyo" - Japan, 2007: In this award winning comedy, a law student with no ambition, no friends or family has a huge gambling debt, and the thug coming to collect has an offer he can't refuse, and may change his life.

Week 4. "Broker" - Korea, 2022: The film follows two brokers who sell orphaned infants, circumventing the bureaucracy of legal adoption, leading to a journey of what it means to be a family.

This very interactive seminar will explore the hot topics of the day that have immediate and relevant impact. Each session will begin with the lecturer's take on the subject, followed by an opportunity for attendees to add their own opinions. The object is to bring home thoughts on issues that affect our lives. The success of this format hinges on the tolerance and mutual respect of each attendee. OLLI is confident that participants will engage in the spirit of mutual respect. Space is limited.

Expect more unabated Constitutional and legal crises for students to consider, but without a "tilt" to any side...as that remains your sole prerogative! (4 illustrations)

(1) When a former U.S. President is indicted for alleged federal or state felonies can he run for the same office? What if awaiting trial? What if a convicted felon? What if (then) incarcerated? Does the Constitution inform any such happenings? (2) Abortion lost Constitutional protection in 2022, but what about state constitutional protections? (3) Can state courts use their own Constitutions to avoid gerrymandering, despite the Supreme Court leaving almost total latitude in state legislatures to form Congressional districts? (4) In 2022, the Supreme Ct. expanded Amendment II beyond keeping guns for self-defense in one's home. What happens next?

These few queries are but "tips of ongoing and additional contentious Constitution and legal icebergs" to be considered in our often lively interactive class discussions. In these expected remarkable and still-unchartered legal 'waters' there will likely be actual 'Titanic'-value issues warranting thoughtful legally grounded analysis in our class, as distinguished from mere political meanderings, as Constitutional "life jackets" will remain available to OLLI classmates.

Finally, all are invited to our long-standing first pre-class 30-minute primer, on October 4th, to assist in your evaluating relative success of developing conflicting arguments upon volatile Constitutional and legal issues. Returning participants are also always welcome to this modest pre-class reunion.

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium, Lifelong Learning Building

Take one dominating musical force from the world of 19th-century opera, add two dynamic film directors from the 20th century, and it adds up to three of the greatest film adaptations of opera in cinematic history. Verdi historian and specialist Giuseppe Albanese presents three works from the composer's pen turned into three unforgettable motion pictures. These films feature the vocal artistry of some of the greatest voices of the late 20th century. They will be presented in a two-session format with English subtitles. Maestro Albanese will provide interesting insights and commentary.

Week 1. "La Traviata" - 1853: A lush, opulent, and tragic tale adapted from the novel and play by Alexander Dumas Fils. Franco Zeffirelli directs the 1982 film starring Placido Domingo and Teresa Stratas.

Week 2. "La Traviata" - Part II

Week 3: "Rigoletto" - 1851: Based on the 1832 play Le roi s'amuse with the libretto written by Francesco Maria Piave. Director Jean Pierre Ponnelle filmed on location in Mantua in 1982, with outstanding performances by Luciano Pavarotti as the Duke and Invar Wixel as the jester.

Week 4: "Rigoletto" - Part II

Week 5: "Otello" - 1887: The Shakespeare tragedy directed by Franco Zeffirelli features stunning sets, costumes, and superb acting in a dazzling film production with Placido Domingo and Katia Ricciarelli, released in 1987.

Week 6: "Otello" - Part II

Antisemitism in Socio-Historical Perspective

Presenter: Luis Fleischman, Ph.D.

Six-week Series Code: FS462

Dates: Fridays — October 6, 13, 20, 27; November 3, 17
(No Class November 10)

Time: 12:30–2 p.m.

Fee: $100/member; $120/non-member

Boca Raton: Lifelong Learning Classrooms,

Antisemitism is a category of hostility or hate that is very peculiar. It appeared for the first time in the ancient world, then in Christendom and Muslim countries. As the enlightenment broke with religion and traditional life, a new antisemitism emerged due to nationalism and liberalism. It later evolved into racism and genocide. The victorious Soviet Union and the rule of Stalin brought a new antisemitism associated with hostility to the State of Israel, which affected the Western left. Anti-Zionism gained significant intensity and hostility in the Arab world. Antisemitism in the western world has reappeared, particularly in academia and sectors of the Western left, primarily associated with the State of Israel. Likewise, there is currently an awakening of right-wing antisemitism. The course will analyze, in general terms, antisemitism from ancient times to these days. Space is limited.

Week 1. What is Antisemitism? The Historical Roots of Antisemitism: Early Christianity and the Middle Ages.

Week 2: Antisemitism after Jewish Emancipation during the French Revolution.

Week 3: The 19th-Century Rise of Conspiracy and Racial Theories: From religious anti-Judaism to racist and nationalist antisemitism in late 19th century Germany and Russia.

Week 4: Antisemitism in the Arab and Muslim World: From Arab nationalism to Radical Islam.

Week 5: Left-wing Antisemitism and anti-Zionism: The Soviet tradition.

Week 6. Contemporary Antisemitism: The Boycott, Divestment, and Sanctions (BDS) campaign against Israel: Western apathy to the Jewish plea; and the rise of antisemitic right-wing groups in the United States.

Exploring Ideas: Best Early 20th Century American Essays

Presenter: Christine Kassover

Four-week Series Code: FG143A

Dates: Mondays — October 9, 16, 23, 30

Time: 2:30–4 p.m.

Fee: $100/member; $130/non-member

Boca Raton: Lifelong Learning Classrooms,
Continuing Education Building

Join us as we travel back in time to visit the works of “cultivated literati” and “hard young socialists” at the start of the last century. We will read early 20th-century rhetoric – sampling personal, critical, philosophical, humorous, autobiographical, and political voices, to explore how the essay form allowed these writers to engage with the masses through America’s mainstream magazines. In readings inspired by The Best American Essays of the Century, edited by Joyce Carol Oates, and through purposeful discussion, we will analyze “where we’ve come from, and who we are, and where we are going.” The art form of the essay serves as the ideal vehicle to provoke, disturb, and arouse emotions through the directedness and intimacy of first-person authority. Space is limited.

Week 1. Essays/Writers from 1900–1910:

“Of the Coming of John” by W.E.B. Du Bois, “Stickeen” by John Muir

Week 2. Essays/Writers from 1910 to 1915:

“The Handicapped” by Randolph Bourne, “Coatesville” by John Jay Chapman

Week 3. Essays/Writers from 1915 to early 1920s:

“Tradition and the Individual Talent” by T.S. Elliot, “Pamplona in July” by Ernest Hemingway

Week 4. Essays/Writers from late 1925–1930:

“The Hills of Zion” by H. L. Mencken, “How it Feels to be Colored Me” by Zora Neal Hurston

The Russian-American Paradox

Presenter: Jeffrey Steinberg, M.A.

Four-week Series Code: F342FA

Dates: Wednesdays — October 11, 18, 25; November 1

Time: 1–2:30 p.m.

Fee: $60/member; $80/non-member

Fort Lauderdale: HE 908, FAU Downtown Campus

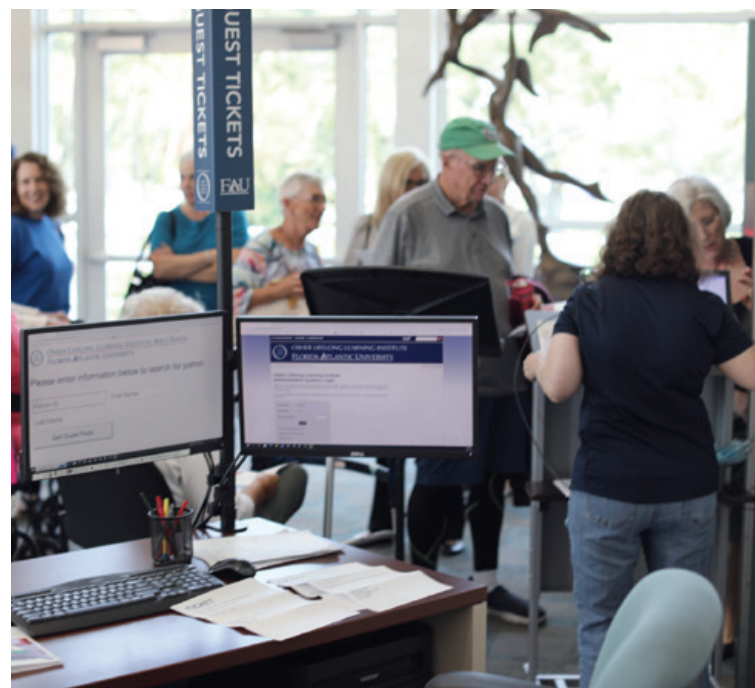

From today's vantage point, it is hard to imagine that for more than 150 years, the United States and Russia were allies. Under Catherine the Great, Russia played an important role in the victory of the American Revolution. President Lincoln forged a close personal relationship with Russia's Czar Alexander II, which was critical in winning the Civil War. Economic ties bound the U.S. and Russia up through the early decades of the 20th century, even after the Bolshevik Revolution. This untold history is vital to see a path forward in American-Russian relations that at least minimizes the danger of war. Over four weeks of lecture and discussion, we will look back at this history to find a way forward.

Week 1. The League of Armed Neutrality and the American Revolution

Week 2. 19th Century American-Russian Collaboration

Week 3. Roosevelt, Eisenhower, Kennedy, Nixon and the Path to Detente

Week 4. Looking to the Future of American-Russian Relations

Dalton Trumbo: A Screenwriter for All Seasons and Reasons

Presenter: Kurt F. Stone, D.D.

Four-week Series Code: F443

Dates: Thursdays — October 12, 19, 26; November 2

Time: 3–5 p.m.

Fee: $60/member; $80/non-member |  Video Catch-up

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium, Lifelong Learning Building

Of all the people who ever succeeded at screenwriting, perhaps none was as talented or multifaceted as Dalton Trumbo. Trumbo (1905–1976) in the words of a colleague, “wrote a brilliant novel and a number of very good movies and demolished the Hollywood blacklist almost single-handed. His greatest achievement was just being the incomparable Dalton Trumbo.” In this course, we will begin with the 2015 bio-pic entitled “Trumbo,” in order to get to know the writer a bit better. Then, in the ensuing weeks we will view three of his greatest films – both the famous and not so well known. Unlike most screenwriters, “Trumbo” had no one genre for which he was best known. He scripted everything from romance to comedy and from crime to message flicks. Indeed, a man for all seasons and reasons!

Week 1. “Trumbo” (2015): Starring Bryan Cranston as Dalton Trumbo, with Diane Lane and Dame Helen Mirren as Hedda Hopper.

Week 2. “Tender Comrade” (1943): Ginger Rogers stars in a film that would help put Trumbo on the Hollywood Blacklist.

Week 3. “The Brave One” (1956): Trumbo won an Academy Award writing under an assumed name for this wonderful story about a boy desperately trying to save the life of his pet bull.

Week 4. “The Fixer” (1968): In Czarist Russia, a Jewish handyman (Sir Alan Bates) is wrongly imprisoned for a most unlikely crime. From the bestselling novel by Bernard Malamud.

In a series of four French films, this course examines French society's vastly different social and geographic diversity. We'll watch four films in French (with Eng subtitles) that take place in a different region of France each week, and then discuss them thoroughly afterward in English, following guidelines that direct the viewer's attention to various cultural factors.

Week 1. Provence: "Jean de Florette," 1986 - Starring Gerard Depardieu, Daniel Auteuil, and Yves Montand, it is an unforgettable picture of Provence with beautiful cinematography and haunting music.

Week 2. Bordeaux: "Tu Seras mon Fils," 2011 - A riveting drama portrayed beautifully by outstanding actors, this film about a vineyard owner desperate for an heir is visually and emotionally powerful.

Week 3. Calais: "Welcome," 2009 - The film highlights the trials of both the migrants and the residents, leaving the viewer to sort through the complicated business of illegal immigration.

Week 4. Paris: "La Vache," 2016 - This hilarious and heart-warming film is about a peasant farmer from a small Algerian village whose dream is to attend the annual Salon de l'Agriculture in Paris where he can display his prized cow.

Time: 7–9 p.m.

Fee: $60/member; $80/non-member |  Video Catch-up

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium, Lifelong Learning Building

In this session, we will explore award-winning films from across the European continent. Stories that will entertain us, move us, and challenge us to understand another point of view. Involve us in other lives. Make us laugh and cry. Bring us back in time. Isn't that what cinema is supposed to do?

Week 1 "Official Competition" - Spain, 2021: A director and two actors, each with outsized egos are commissioned by a millionaire to make a movie together in this sharp and sometimes very darkly human comedy skewering wealth, art, and pride.

Week 2. "The Quiet Girl" - Ireland, 2022: Rural Ireland 1981. A quiet, neglected girl is sent away from her dysfunctional family to live with foster parents for the summer. She blossoms in their care, but in this house where there are meant to be no secrets, she discovers one.

Week 3. "Chess Story" - Germany, 2021: To withstand the psychological torture of the Gestapo, a lawyer imprisoned by the Nazis finds refuge in the world of chess.

Week 4. "The King of Laughter" - Italy, 2021: Naples, 1904. Eduardo Scarpetta, Italy's greatest actor risks everything to retain his freedom of expression.

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium, Lifelong Learning Building

Alexander Hamilton once described the Supreme Court as the “least dangerous branch” of the American government. Although this may have been true in 1789, the Court has evolved into a co-equal branch of the federal government. From Obamacare to same-sex marriage to the election of a President, it is the Court that ultimately has the final say on most of the important issues of the day. Despite this, it may be appropriate to call the Supreme Court the “least understood branch” since the Court does much of its work behind closed doors. In fact, very few Americans are aware of the Court’s members, decisions, and day-to-day operations. The first half of this course will shed light on the least understood branch by looking at the history and inner workings of the Court. We will then look specifically at the cases and issues that have defined the Court’s agenda and American politics over the past 60 years.

Week 1. The Early Court, Marbury v. Madison, Chief Justice John Marshall’s leadership to Chief Justice Taney’s disaster (Dred Scott v. Sanford).

Week 2. The 14th Amendment: The Court fails the Civil Rights test but finds Social Darwinism in the Constitution: Justices Steven Fields, John Harlan, Oliver Wendell Holmes.

U.S. National Security

Presenter: Robert G. Rabil, Ph.D.

Four-week Series Code: F241

Dates: Tuesdays — November 7, 14, 21, 28

Time: 10–11:30 a.m.

Fee: $60/member; $80/non-member |  Video Catch-up

Boca Raton: Friedberg Auditorium, Lifelong Learning Building

The Russian invasion of Ukraine has ended the post-Cold War era and ushered in a new era. Dr. Rabil has argued that although Russian President Vladimir Putin made a strategic blunder invading Ukraine, the invasion has provoked an international realignment of forces. This realignment has created three camps: A Western camp, led by NATO countries; an Eastern camp, led by Russia and China; and a neutral camp, led by countries opposing the war but unwilling to sanction Russia or China. Underestimated thus far by Washington, this realignment of forces has affected U.S. National Security. Washington can no longer rely on some of its former allies when its need to sustain its global leadership and support its foreign policy priorities have come under internal and external stress. In this special lecture series, Dr. Rabil will probe several foreign policy areas where American foreign policy needs to be reevaluated.

Week 1. Saudi Arabia: The New Europe of the Middle East?

Week 2. War on Terror: New Challenges and Threats

Week 3. The Arctic: The U.S. – Russian Race to the New Frontiers

Week 4. The Ukraine Crisis: Ramifications for United States

Philosophy is a mystifying, confounding, and wondrous discipline that affects virtually every aspect of human existence. While it attempts to consider the big issues of our lives, philosophy strives to place things in a meaningful context. In this re-do of Intro to Philosophy, we will ask (and try to answer) four classic philosophical questions — the nature of free will, morality, justice, and whether God exists. Join the discussion as we seek to understand fundamental truths about ourselves, the world in which we live, and our relationships with the world and each other. Space is limited.

THE RIGHT TO VOTE: THE CONTESTED HISTORY OF DEMOCRACY IN THE UNITED STATES

4 PM, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7, UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Alex Keyssar, Ph.D., Matthew W. Stirling Jr. Professor of History and Social Policy, Harvard University, will address the evolution of America's political culture as well as present a meditation on the meaning of democracy in contemporary American life. Keyssar specializes in the exploration of historical problems that have contemporary policy implications. His book, The Right to Vote: The Contested History of Democracy in the United States, was named the best book in U.S. history by both the American Historical Association and the Historical Society. It was also a finalist for the Pulitzer Prize and the Los Angeles Times Book Award. Keyssar's latest book is titled Why Do We Still Have the Electoral College? Tickets: $20; Groups: $15 (10 or more). Book signing to follow lecture.
